MARRIED LIFE ON $80 A MONTH

The worried housewife is urged to be quiet when her husband is unreasonable and is told by her neighbor that lack of management in her household affairs is the cause of her troubles.

"Now we have found a place to start from," said Olive Ellison earnestly. "My dear Mrs. Sutner, do you love your husband enough to keep quiet when he is unreasonable; to return a soft answer to his hard speeches?"

"Men don't respect women who will take all sorts of abuse tamely," blazed Mrs. Sutner. "You have tried fanning flames of passion and adding fuel to the fire of temper; has it worked for peace?" asked Olive gravely.

"No," she answered sullenly. "Are you willing to try another course as an experiment?" asked her friend. "I came to you for help," said the woman after a long silence, "and just as far as I am able I will do what you tell me."

"Now, that's the right spirit. That and infinite patience will go far to undo the past. It's a long road to travel back to peace; however, I think it can be done."

"I'll do anything."

"Now, first, you say most if not all of your trouble is about money and lack of management. You must begin by reducing everything to a system. Set aside a certain amount for your table, just what you think you can afford and never run over that amount."

"Oh, I never have any money to handle except when I beg for it," interrupted the woman in a hard voice. "Can't you talk the matter over quietly with your husband?" asked Olive after a pause.

"You don't know what you are suggesting. You might as well talk of quietly and soothingly setting off a firecracker."

Olive reflected a minute. "I think it will be absolutely necessary to reach some sort of a working agreement."

"If I could figure out with your help what I should spend on the table and keep expenses down to that it might be he would notice that the bills were smaller and speak about it, or I might get the nerve to open the subject if I'd succeeded in keeping expenses down."

"Good scheme!" applauded Olive. "Now I'll get my cook books and a tablet and we'll make some menus that are cheap." Olive rose to put the idea into practice.

"If you can find anything cheap these times you are a wonder. Things cost so much more than they did when we were first married, and John's salary is just the same. It's not because he isn't good at his work, either, for he has earned quite a few dollars straightening out sets of accounts books evenings."

When Olive returned with books, paper and pencil, the women worked until they had prepared menus for a week, figuring out the cost of material and keeping everything inside the limit set for furnishing the table. "Why, I never heard of doing this way," I always waited till time to get a meal, then looked to see what I had in the house, and if there was nothing, went over to the store and picked out what looked good or was the least trouble to get. How did you learn to do things in this business-like fashion?" Ebe looked admiringly at Olive.

"My mother is Scotch and thrifty. She has kept house in this way ever since she was married. It's no credit to me that I know how to make ends meet."

"You'll be a good ally when it comes to making one dollar do the work of five," Mrs. Sutner actually smiled.

HELPFUL HINTS.

Mother-o'-pearl articles should be cleaned with whiting and cold water—soap discolors them.

Young Nasturtium leaves chopped up and used for sandwiches with mustard and cress will be found a refreshing novelty.

Cotton Gloves to wear in doing housework are cooler and better in every way than old kid gloves. If bought especially for this purpose, get a size larger than usually worn.

IN THE REALM OF FASHION.

Beaded flowers continue to be used on the hat models shown by the milliners and worn by smart women. Steel beads are used, and so are colored beads.

Buckles are used on many hats. Sometimes they are used to fasten wings, and sometimes big buckles form the sole trimming, save perhaps a band of ribbon or folded silk, on small hats.

Hats with narrow, tall crowns and narrow, curling brims, suggestive of men's hats of the empire period, are among the smartest walking hats of the autumn.

Pockets form a striking feature on many of the new frocks. They are often applied over fullness or tucks and are trimmed with buttons or braid.

Beaver is one of the favorite furs of the autumn and as a trimming fur it is especially good. It is used in the form of a wide shawl collar, that quite covers the shoulders, on a striking suit of green cloth.

A small detail, but one that gives a mark of style to the coat, is the arrowhead worked in silk at the head of tucks or darts.

Often the waistline slants down from the front—that is, it is above normal in front and far below normal in back.

Now that high collars are established, it is natural to find them occasionally used on evening frocks. An entirely separate velvet and fur collar is worn with an evening frock by Doucet.

Garbadine is again a leading fabric. It proved its durability as well as its style, last winter and the preceding summer, and it has every reason to remain in favor.

SALT LAKERS HEAR

EDISON TELEPHONE
Salt Lake, Oct. 22.—Yesterday, the thirty-sixth anniversary of the invention of the electric light by Thomas A. Edison, was observed as "Edison day" by the electrical business world throughout the United States.

An interesting feature of the observance in Salt Lake City was the fact that Mr. Edison's voice was heard here when he talked at the San Francisco exposition to Chicago, New York and Orange, N. J. Officials of the Mountain States Telephone & Telegraph company, listening on the transcontinental line here, heard Mr. Edison say to the east that it was the first time he had ever carried on a conversation over the telephone.

Another interesting feature of the wizard's electric light anniversary, demonstrating the tremendous developments of the uses of electricity, was the announcement to Mr. Edison over the transcontinental line by John J. Carty, chief engineer for the American Telephone & Telegraph company, that the human voice had been transmitted across the Atlantic to Paris by means of wireless telephony.

All the telephonic incidents of Edison day at the San Francisco exposition could be heard in Salt Lake when the office of the Mountain States company cut in on the wire, putting this city on the main highway of the Edison day celebration. All branches of the electrical world in the city observed the day in various ways.

BULGARS MAKE FURTHER GAINS

Sofia, Bulgaria, Tuesday, Oct. 19, via London, Oct. 21, 8:52 p. m.—The official communication, issued by the war office today, says:

"Our troops, advancing step by step in the Timok valley, are now before Negotin, from which the Serbians, after they were defeated, fled in panic, leaving in our hands one officer and fifty men prisoners. One officer and 150 men were killed."

"Near Pirot our troops, after a stubborn battle, took possession on Vidice Planina on the Kolibava towers which are very important strategic points."

"Round about Vranja our troops are strongly established, having cleared the valley of the Morava for a distance of 21 kilometers (about thirteen miles) to the north and northeast. Our booty at Vranja has not yet been determined, but it is known to comprise 2,000,000 cartridges for Berdan rifles and 1,000,000 francs ($200,000) worth of tobacco. In the station of Bojanowitz we found about 1,000,000 kilograms of hay. (A kilogram is 2.20 pounds.)"

"Our troops advancing by way of Egri Palanka, attacked a strong Serbian position and repulsed the enemy, who is being rapidly pursued toward Kumanovo."

"In the valley of the Bregalnitsa river our offensive is progressing with lightning-like rapidity. The whole of this valley and the plateau of Outsof Polje is in our hands, as well as the towns of Kibava, Raduljevac, Tipkilese and Nikratovo. Our cavalry overtook the retreating Serbians near Kissel and completely dispersed them. About 2000 were captured and the others were only able to escape through the darkness. "The troops are being received with indescribable enthusiasm in the liberated regions."

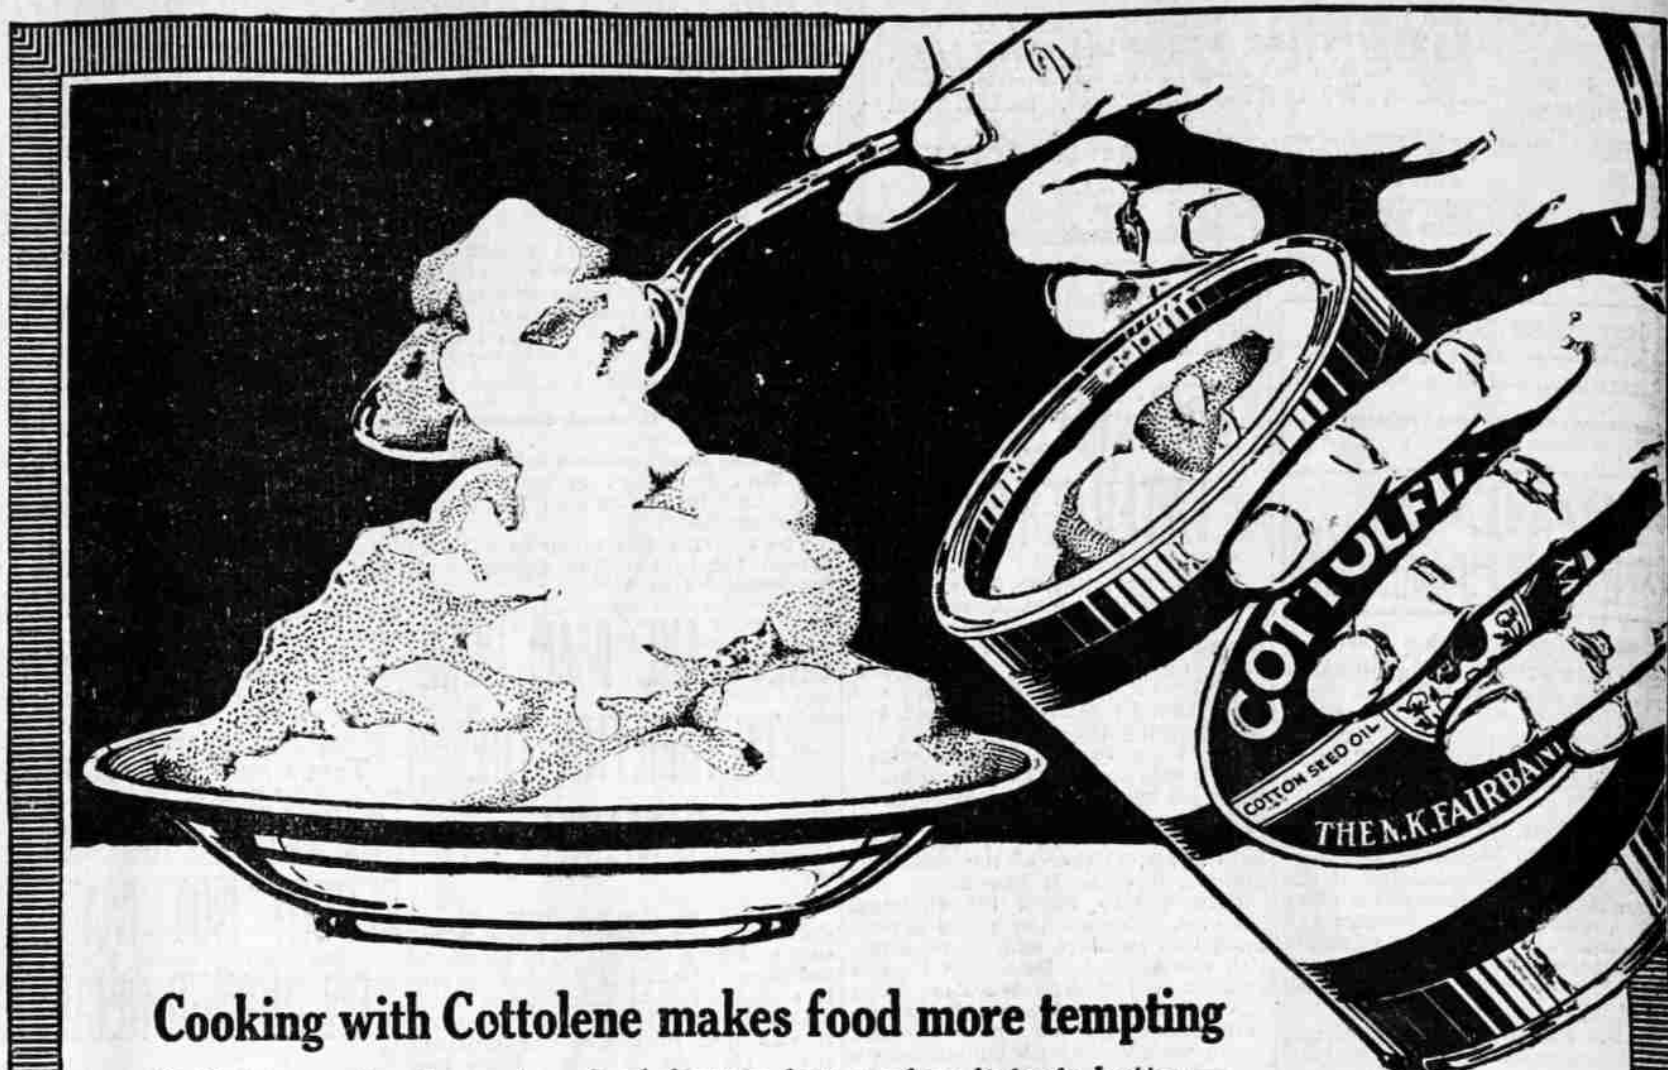

D. & R. G. MAY CARRY BIG LOAD

Salt Lake, Oct. 22.—Local interest in the suit brought by bothholders of the Western Pacific to compel the Denver & Rio Grande to pay $2,500,000 interest due on bonds of the Western Pacific has increased in view of reports that the Gould road has surveyors in the Uintah basin. If the courts should compel the Denver &

Rio Grande to pay interest on the $2,500,000 worth of guaranteed bonds, it is suggested the Denver & Rio Grande in order to get rid of its alliance with the Western Pacific and a number of lines in Colorado may resort to a receivership.

All of the Gould roads in western United States are in the hands of receivers except the Denver & Rio Grande. The Missouri Pacific, the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern, the Texas & Pacific and the International & Great Northern, together with the Western Pacific, are operating under the direction of courts.

For some months there have been rumors in local railroad circles that the Denver & Rio Grande could not stand the financial strain in the event the Missouri Pacific went into receivership. It was the opinion of a number of railroad attorneys in Salt Lake, who have been interested in some phase of the suit brought against the Denver & Rio Grande that the courts will hold the Gould road responsible for the interest and principal on the Western Pacific bonds, under its guaranty.

If the court does enter a decree against the Rio Grande in the case, the expenditures of the road will be increased $2,500,000 a year and as the Denver & Rio Grande refused to pay the interest on the Western Pacific bonds for the semi-annual interest period ending April 1, 1915, just after the appointment of receivers, it would be required to pay more than $5,000,000 in interest at one time.

In addition to freedom from the Western Pacific obligations the Denver & Rio Grande has more at stake in the suit. A number of roads in Colorado taken over by the Rio Grande through guaranteeing principal and interest on bonds have become non-revenue producers and if it wins the suit filed in New York it will then have a way to rid itself of non-productive property.

The Utah division of the Denver & Rio Grande is the only portion of the road that has been returning money to the treasury.

REPULSE AT RIGA OF THE GERMANS

Petrograd, Oct. 21, via London, Oct. 22, 12:45 a. m.—The official communication given out by the war office today says:

In the region of the Riga front there has been an artillery duel. A German offensive east of the village of Olai on the Mitau road was repulsed. On the front east of Olai there has been an incessant cannonade.

Our Ilyamouretz aeroplane threw dozens of bombs on the outskirts of Mitau, causing, according to reliable reports, great damage to the railway and enemy stores. In the region of Olai our troops brought down a German aeroplane. The aviators were killed.

In the region of the village of Paikanen, east of Olai, the Germans, under cover of a cloud of smoke, made four unsuccessful attacks. In the region of Friedrichtadt and Jacobstadt and on the front of the region of Dvinsk there is nothing of importance to report.

North of the town of Postava, after stubborn fighting, the Germans were ejected from the village of Roussaki. We took 200 prisoners.

When we captured the German and Austrian positions in the region southeast of Baranovitchi, it was found that the enemy was preparing to use asphyxiating gas against us. Receptacles full of it fell into our hands.

South of the Pripiet marshes we took by assault a series of villages on the left bank of the Styr below Rafalovka. On the occupation of the village of Momorova, we captured over 400 soldiers and two machine guns.

German counter attacks in the region of Kolki were repulsed with heavy losses. In the region north of the village of Tchernysh, southeast of Kolki, heavy fighting is proceeding. The Austrians and Germans, in the fighting on the left bank of the Styr, continue to use virtually nothing but explosive bullets.

SERBIANS FALL BACK

BEFORE THE TEUTONS
Vienna, via London, Oct. 21, 11:45 p. m.—The following official statement from general headquarters was issued today:

Southwestern theatre: Our troops have entered Sabac. The Macva plain has been cleared of the enemy.

The army of General Koevess and the German forces are advancing on both sides of the Morava river and continually pressing further into Serbian territory. Of General Koevess' Austro-Hungarian the western group has advanced on the heights of the Kolubara as far as the Turija estuary.

The eastern group has advanced fighting and crossed the Ralija estuary.

The Bulgarian advance in the Timok valley, between Zajecan and Knjazevac, has reached the west of Pirot, the principal works of which fortress are in range of their guns. One of these armies yesterday entered the Vardar valley, in the region of Kumpovo.

MILITARY DRILL FOR HIGH SCHOOL BOYS

Portland, Ore., Oct. 22.—Aided by action of the Portland school board, advocates of a proposal to encourage school boys to acquire knowledge of the rudiments of military training were pushing the plan today. The school board, by unanimous vote, endorsed military drill and instruction for high school boys by adopting a resolution to allow school credits for those that joined the state land and naval militia and for attendance at drills.

JOAN OF ARC STATUE ON RIVERSIDE DRIVE

New York, Oct. 22.—The erection of a pedestal for a statue of Joan of Arc in Riverside Drive parkway overlooking the Hudson river was in progress today. The cornerstone was laid yesterday in the presence of representatives of France and America. Maurice Heilman, commercial attache of the French embassy at Washington paid a tribute to the United States and the sisterhood between this nation and France.

The statue which has been completed and is now ready to be set in place, is of bronze and depicts Joan of Arc with sword raised mounted on a charger. The base will be supported by arches composed of stone taken from the dungeon in which the martyred heroine of France was kept prisoner just before her execution.

GERMANS HOLDING BACK THE GREEKS

Paris, Oct. 22, 4:25 a. m.—The Athens correspondent of the Matin sends the following under date of Wednesday:

"The only way of inducing Greece to take military action is to send troops to Saloniki in sufficient numbers. Ministers Elliott and Demidoff (Sir E. E. Elliott and Prince Elim Demidoff, respectively British and Russian ministers to Greece) have called on Premier Zaimis, but no collective action by the allied ministers is probable at present, for it would have little chance of success."

German colleague and the German minister."

CANADA LENDS AID TO MOTHER COUNTRY

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 21.—According to a statement issued by the finance department, Canada, in addition to meeting the ordinary and capital expenditures, has advanced more than $20,000,000 during the past six weeks to the imperial treasury to finance temporarily the heavy expenditure of the shell committee in the Dominion.

The effect of this financing has been to assist in stabilizing the sterling exchange situation, as the money was furnished here without withdrawal by the Dominion of its London balances. All the advances on behalf of the imperial treasury are of a temporary character and are promptly repaid from time to time.

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotics, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying powers are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics.
